

THE ML LIST

TOP ARCHITECTS & DESIGNERS

The editors of Mountain Living are pleased to present an exclusive guide to the most talented and influential architects and interior designers at work in the West today.

These designers and architects in mountain territories have worked hard to become top in their professions, and we've taken note of their work, along with receiving recommendations from their clients, vendors, professional organizations and readers.

Keeping our readers in mind, we've organized the list to be user friendly. You'll find architects and designers listed by state and town; some architects have more than one office location and we have listed only their main corporate location. Those who were featured in Mountain Living during the past two years receive a special highlight that mentions their most recent project featured in the magazine as of J/F 2018. (Architects and designers who have been featured during the past two years but are located in an area outside of Mountain Living's territory are grouped together at the end of the list.)

This year's list is illustrated with a few of our favorite high-country spaces featured in the pages of Mountain Living over the past year. See more of each home at mountainliving.com.

"For this Jackson Hole family porch, a mountain-inspired palette of sage, wheat and blue offers a modern and peaceful contrast to rustic stone. The weightier upholstered pieces add coziness while luxuriously soft accessories counter-balance exposed steel, rugged timber and the streamlined profiles of teak furnishings."

For this 1990 home in Incline Village, Nevada, designer Scott Corridan recommended opening up the closed floor plan to maximize views of Lake Tahoe. In the kitchen, Corridan eschewed upper cabinets to make room to accommodate a large horizontal window that spans nearly the length of the kitchen.

Calgary-based architect firm McKinley Burkart created a cozy mountain home with modern touches—but geared toward heavy use for a couple with three sons. The home was designed with three levels—the middle level is devoted to family life and entertaining. A Parsons-style white oak table seats eight in the dining room.

"This photograph highlights Allen-Guerra Architecture's interpretation of Industrial Mountain Rustic. This style is informed by the asymmetrical steel angle braces that tie into an antiqued wood post on one side of the doors and a stone wall to the opposite side.

“One of the primary goals was for the home to sit low within the landscape but still create voluminous interior spaces. The interior spaces open up to the landscape and bring components of the exterior material palate inside to blur the line between indoor and outdoor space.”

"This Mountain Modern home located in Big Sky, Montana, drew upon the American Farmhouse. The kitchen and dining room reflect this historical style, preserving the elements of the original movement while updating these elements with clean lines and modern materials."

“Classic and contemporary with a playful twist. The indigenous stone fireplace and reclaimed hewn timber walls suggest a timeless rustic structure juxtaposed with refined Ralph Lauren furnishings and a modern interpretation of childhood memories, making this gathering room the focal point of a great storyline.”
